Message from the President

Dinesh Bhugra

Dear Friends,

You may recall that WPA has set up a WPA-Lancet Commission on Psychiatry to ascertain the future of our profession in early part of the 21st century. Separately I have sent you the link for the survey. Please respond and also encourage your members, colleagues and other stakeholders to respond too. We would like a global and wide response. The qualitative aspects were completed at the WPA International Congress in Bucharest and the quantitative survey has already been piloted. The revised deadline for publication of the results and recommendations is summer 2016.

Needs of psychiatrists and their roles do vary across various countries due to resources and public expectations and therefore we need as full a picture as possible. Hopefully, this project will enable us to identify skills and competencies required of a psychiatrist in modern clinical practice. Following this we will be in a better position to develop suitable and appropriate curricula and training for future psychiatrists.

We celebrated World Mind Matters Day on 4th September with the launch of WPA Position Statement on Social Justice for those with Mental illness and also statement on migrants and asylum seekers. We hope that this will become an annual event. We aim to draw attention of policy makers to focus on outcomes based parity between physical and mental illness and funding for research and service development.

Various task forces are working hard to help develop curricula and policy statements which will be launched during the course of next year. A series of round table discussions will be starting early next year on a range of topics.

This is the last print edition of the newsletter. This painful decision was taken in order to save money. From next year the newsletter will continue to be available on the website on a regular basis. Season's Greetings to you, your members and families.

Yours faithfully,

Dinesh Bhugra

L'Escalade, or Fête de l'Escalade is an annual festival held in December in Geneva, Switzerland, celebrating the defeat of the surprise attack by troops sent by Charles Emmanuel I, Duke of Savoy during the night of 11-12 December 1602. The celebrations are usually held on 12 December or the closest weekend. The festivities start with a 5 mile race through the Old Town and culminate the following weekend with a torchlight procession of over 1000 marchers.

From the President-Elect

I would like to end the year by commenting on the community of support in the WPA. It is founded on the aspirations and achievements of the many thousands of members of our 138 member societies. In a year full of human tragedy and disillusion at the global level, it is heartening to see the people in WPA intent on the task of improving the mental health of our patients and their families and the broader communities, especially those suffering serious adversities.

I am grateful for the help, advice and warm welcome during the year from member societies and affiliated associations and the support this represents for WPA. It is enormously encouraging in the work with our Association. Helping to translate individual aspirations and achievements into national and global efforts are responsibilities we share. As a global association, the WPA is in a unique position to support and amplify the efforts of national and regional societies and to work in partnership with other global organisations.

The WPA Planning Committee is now at work to plan for continuing action in the triennium 2017-2020. We are defining the major topics on which to focus, and a process of consultation about them.

I thank colleagues in the WPA leadership as well as our member societies for help and friendship, and look forward to working together in the year ahead.

World Psychiatry: reaching as many psychiatrists as possible worldwide

Mario Maj

World Psychiatry, the official journal of the World Psychiatric Association, reaches now, with its paper and electronic versions, more than 40,000 psychiatrists in 125 countries. It is produced in seven languages: English, Spanish, Chinese, Arabic, Russian, French and Turkish.

Its current impact factor is 14.225, ranking no. 3 among all psychiatric journals. Only Molecular Psychiatry and the Archives of General Psychiatry have a slightly higher impact factor, 14.496 and 14.480 respectively.

The first and most important aim of the journal is to inform as many psychiatrists as possible worldwide on recent significant clinical, service and research developments, using a language that can be assimilated by most of them, focusing on those issues which are relevant to their professional growth and everyday clinical practice, and making an attempt to reach also those psychiatrists who are not able to read English. The second aim is to give voice to psychiatrists from all regions of the world, by encouraging submission of research papers and reports on mental health policy issues or innovative service modalities.

The access of the average psychiatrist to international psychiatric journals is nowadays becoming more and more difficult. This is not only due to financial reasons (the majority of psychiatrists worldwide cannot afford a personal subscription to even one international psychiatric journal, and many academic centers are now reducing the number of journals to which they subscribe), but also to the objective difficulty in understanding the language, the concepts and the technical details, and the lack of motivation to read articles which do not have an obvious clinical relevance. The traditional gap between the small circle of researchers and the multitude of psychiatric practitioners is thus becoming wider and wider. World Psychiatry represents a response to this situation.

Mental health care is the main topic of the journal. Priority is given to contributions dealing with the organization of mental health services throughout the world and to international collaborative research on new interventions. A second priority is psychopathological and biological research which appears solid and relevant to clinical practice. A specific request is made to the contributors to use a very clear and simple language, avoiding concepts and terms which would not be understood by the majority of psychiatrists worldwide.

All back issues of the journal can be freely downloaded from the PubMed system (<http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/journals/297/>). All WPA Member Societies and Scientific Sections are welcome to provide a list of their members who wish to receive regularly free of charge the electronic version of the journal.

From Secretary for Education

Edgard Belfort

The Operational Committee on Education met on November 17, 2015 at Taipei. The Committee Chair is Dr. Edgard Belfort, Secretary for Education of the WPA EC. The Co-chair is Maria Luz Casimiro-Querubin (Philippines) and its members are Roger Ng (Hong Kong), Fabrizio Delgado (Ecuador), and Constantin Soldatos (Greece), Marc Hermans (Belgium). In order to fulfill this mandate, the Committee recommends a training needs survey, recognizing the possibility of a huge variance across its member societies. Once approved by the EC, this survey will be implemented with the support of all member societies and zonal representatives. The results will give valuable input in defining the educational strategies and activities of the WPA in the next 2-3 years. The results of this survey will subsequently be published for the information of the member societies. The data will also provide valuable input to the planned WPA Diploma Course for mental health, amongst others. The views of the members of the Operational Committee on Education represent the range of issues that challenge psychiatry worldwide.

Dr. Fabrizio Delgado, Past President of the Ecuadorian Association of Psychiatry, thinks that the most obvious problem in his region is the gap in the standard of care between the public and the private sector. This gap is highly influenced by the budget allotted for the particular institution. There are continued efforts to standardize education through a university curriculum that runs for 3-4 years. The training is largely hospital based and provides exposure to acute and chronic cases. Trainees are also exposed to various specialties that include addiction psychiatry, child and adolescent psychiatry and consultation – liaison psychiatry.

Dr. Roger Ng, also a member of the Operational Committee and Vice-President of the Hong Kong College of Psychiatrists, states that their organization has the vision of improving the psychiatrist:patient ratio to 1:10000. However, there has been a general shortage of medical graduates in Hong Kong that translates into a shortage of psychiatric trainees in the past five years. There has also been a steady number of specialist psychiatrists moving from the public sector to private practice, leading to a shortage of experienced psychiatrists taking care of the poor and ill patients with serious mental illness.

Dr. Maria Luz C. Querubin, Co-chair of the Operational Committee and current President of the Philippine Psychiatric Association, shares that the Philippines is beset with health human resource gaps similar to that of Hong Kong. Based on 2015 data, there are 643 registered psychiatrists for a population of 102 million. This occurs in the bigger context of international migration. Disaster mental health and the inculcation of a public mental health perspective will play key roles in the training of more responsive young psychiatrists.

Dr. Marc Hermans, founding member of the Flemish Psychiatric Association, has had extensive work as a member of the Committee on Education of the European Psychiatric Association. Europe draws from a rich tradition in clinical psychiatry and the founding of various theoretical frameworks. The Sections of Psychiatry and of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry (CAP) in the European Union of Medical Specialists (UEMS) have worked towards harmonisation of standards of training within Europe. In many countries working circumstances are far less attractive for psychiatrists as compared to other specialists contributing to a wave of transeuro-pean migration of medical doctors.

Members of the Operational Committee on Education.

The World Psychiatric Association plays a crucial role in developing policies and directions to guide member countries towards bridging the gaps between health care demands and the capacity of the health systems to respond. The members of the Operational Committee believe that its mandate is to lead educational initiatives that will directly impact on closing the gaps between mental health care demands and the capacities of health care providers.

From Secretary for Finances

Armen Soghoyan

Dear Colleagues,

I would like to congratulate all of you on the coming New Year and Christmas. 2015 was the first year of the acting Executive Committee, and from the financial point of view it was not bad, but it could have been better. We enter 2016 with some unspecified issues, but which can not adversely affect the WPA functioning. We can view an obvious improvement in membership fees payment discipline and will introduce the mechanisms to regulate conferences related issues, the results of which will be felt in 2016. We have also some proposals that are aimed at improving the WPA financial policy, and as it was promised, will increase revenues and improve the cost efficiency.

I wish all of you health, success, financial stability and development as well as peace and the victory of good in our rapidly shrinking world.

■ WPA SCIENTIFIC PUBLICATIONS: BOOKS AND JOURNALS

Michelle Riba, M.D., M.S

We continue to actively support and help members who want to publish their works. At a recent WPA International Congress meeting in Taipei, several workshops were organized to help early career psychiatrists get published. These were quite successful and well received. We will continue to try to have such workshops at future WPA conferences and look forward to hearing from WPA members who might want to participate. Journal editors and book authors would be very welcomed to participate on these panels so they can share their experiences and thoughts and reflections on mentorship. Please let me know of your interest, via the WPA Secretariat.

The WPA official journal, World Psychiatry, has now reached an impact factor of 14.225, ranking no. 3 among psychiatric journals

(only Molecular Psychiatry and the Archives of General Psychiatry have a slightly higher impact factor, 14.496 and 14.480 respectively). It is produced in seven languages: English, Chinese, Spanish, Russian, Turkish, French, and Arabic. It is sent free of charge to all psychiatrists whose e-mail addresses are provided by WPA Member Societies and Sections. All back issues of the journal can be freely downloaded from the PubMed system (<http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/journals/297/>).

The WPA Executive Committee met in Kochi, India on September 27, 2015 and approved the creation and development of an Iberoamerican Digital Journal and Psychiatric Library in Spanish and Portuguese, under the general coordination of Alfredo H. Cía, WPA Zone 5 delegate. Prof. Cía will be responsible for the Scientific, Technical and Financial aspects of the Digital Library and his work will also include the creation and organization of international teams and the Editorial Committee. The group will be seeking to obtain funding in order for the WPA to accomplish its objectives.

Books on a number of topics are being developed as part of primary care psychiatry themes. Physical Exercise Interventions for Mental Health, eds. Linda Lam and Michelle Riba. Springer, is nearing completion. I wish everyone and their families a joyous, healthy, peaceful, and happy Holiday Season.

Argentinean Association of Psychiatrists Congress

We thank everyone for your participation in our 23rd International Congress of Psychiatry, held from 28 to 30 October in the Auditorium of the Universidad Católica Argentina of Puerto Madero, with a total attendance of 4,099 professionals and students of mental health and related areas. We had 109 round tables, 48 posters, 31 courses, 26 conferences, 4 industry symposiums and 4 conferences were developed. It was attended by 15 foreign guests and 536 speakers. We appreciate the valuable collaboration of the pharmaceutical industry

■ ROYAL COLLEGE OF PSYCHIATRISTS (UK)

On 10th November 2015 the winners of the Royal College of Psychiatrists’ awards were announced during a ceremony attended by some 300 guests at its headquarters in London. The awards are now in their 7th year. Royal College of Psychiatrists’ President Professor Sir Simon Wessely, congratulating the shortlisted candidates said “These awards ceremonies grow every year. It is so important to recognise and acknowledge the impact people make to the profession and to those people they help, and to remind ourselves of the fact that we do provide excellent psychiatric care.”

Presenting the Lifetime Achievement Award to Professor Peter Tyrer from the Imperial College’s Centre for Mental Health in London was journalist and author, broadcaster and political aide, Alistair Campbell. ■ ARMENIAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION

On October 1st, 2015 Armenian Psychiatric Association and Centre for Psychosocial Regulation came up with new initiative - the opening of the first RECOVERY COLLEGE in Armenia and in the region. This kind of Social Enterprise Model is working in developed countries that are passing the deinstitutionalization process, such as England. Armenia had a unique advantage to skip all mental health reforms that European countries passed through and to apply best practices and models available, such as RECOVERY COLLEGE at once.

The training is provided by mental health professionals and peer consultants or peer educators, who had an experience of recovery after serious mental health problem. The participants are not identified with the social role of the client or patient but they identify themselves as a student, which protects them from stigmatization and self-stigmatization. The RECOVERY COLLEGE will have first graduates on December 24, this year.

■ NORWEGIAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION

The Norwegian Medical Association (NMA) has prepared a report on the total health of persons with serious mental disorders called "A dignified life", published in April 2015.

The associations for adult and child & adolescent psychiatry challenged the NMA to put mental health on the agenda for all physicians in Norway, and the NMA answered by inviting the societies for mental health, dependency and general practice to prepare a joint document. The focus was set on the seriously mentally ill, and in particular their decreased life-length due to somatic co morbidities.

In her introduction to the report, the then President of the NMA Hege Gjessing called for early and correct diagnostics as a basis for joint action for persons with mental disorders, dependencies and dual diagnoses. Norwegian physicians want to support persons with serious mental disorders when they establish their independent, dignified life. We are hoping for a breakthrough.

■ ITALIAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION

The Italian Psychiatric Association (S.I.P.) held its 47th national congress, 11-15 October 2015 in the breathtaking venue of Giardini Naxos, just outside Catania (Sicily). Prof. Dinesh Bhugra, President of WPA addressed the meeting and outlined the current state in the field of psychiatry at an international level as well as the potential for growth of the discipline.

The themes included psycho-pharmacological and psychosocial treatments and rehabilitation in cases of severe mental disorders. The recent closing of the country's last six asylums for the criminally insane ("O.P.G.") was evaluated. During the conference, the Italian Psychiatric Association's General Assembly also renewed its administrative offices for the next three years, appointing as President Claudio Mencacci (Milan) on the hospital side and, as President Elect, Bernardo Carpiniello (Cagliari) on the academic one. The two new Presidents voiced their wishes for a close relationship and collaboration with sister societies at a European level, and for a growing role of Italian psychiatry within the WPA.

Message from Secretary for Scientific Sections

Welcome to the last edition of 2015 WPA News!

I am pleased that the WPA Scientific Sections have remained active during the last quarter of 2015. The Sections have organised different sessions and symposia during WPA sponsored and co-sponsored meetings. We have also been organising Intersectional educational programmes and Intersectional Forum at WPA conferences. This activity was well attended by young psychiatrists at WPA International Congress at Taiwan. The addition of Positive Psychiatry as a new Scientific Section adds further value to our list WPA Operational Committee on Scientific Sections meeting in Taiwan, November 2015. Seated: Gordana Milavic and Gisèle Apter. Standing: Malcolm Hopwood, Afzal Javed, and Khachatur Gasparyan.

of Sections. Various Sections continued with their programmes on “Promotion of Mental Health” as a part of WPA’s action plan for 2014-2017. The WPA Section on Religion, Spirituality and Psychiatry prepared their position statement and it is hoped that this will be published in World Psychiatry.

The new website of WPA has attracted many new additions from Sections for their respective pages and I am delighted that Sections are now using our website with more interest and enthusiasm.

WPA Intersectional Educational Programme, Taipei

Intersectional collaboration has emerged as an important theme in the Sections’ work during this quarter. It is in this perspective that WPA organizes special sessions, seminars, and forums in different international and regional meetings highlighting the contributions of Sections in academic and educational areas. A special session focusing on intersectional educational programmes was organised at WPA International Conference,

■ RURAL MENTAL HEALTH

The WPA Rural Mental Health Section presented “Rural Global Health Symposium on providing services to communities and preventing Suicide” at the WPA regional congress at Kochi, India held in September. The symposium was well attended by delegates from India, New Zealand, and the UK. Some key pragmatic ways were identified to serve rural communities following a lengthy and lively discussion.

The Section also organised a workshop on “Train the Trainers in mental health using the Global Mental Health Assessment Tool (GMHAT/PC)”. This was intended to provide training to experienced psychiatrists who could take a lead in training frontline workers on mental health. ■ PSYCHIATRY OF INTELLECTUAL DISABILITY

The 10th Congress of European Association for Mental Health in Intellectual Disability (EAMHID) entitled “Integrating different approaches in the neurodevelopmental perspective” was held in Florence (Italy) from the 9th-11th September 2015. In the neurodevelopmental perspective, the psychiatry of intellectual disability is finally moving from a marginal to a central place within general psychiatry. It contributes significantly to a new conceptualisation of mental health, starting from the link between early specific cognitive deficits and psychopathological vulnerability, specific difficulties in determining the grade of functional impairment, clinical distress and symptom detection. The considerable progress in this field that has been made in the last 30 years is reflected through the high and significant numbers reached by this congress. More than 650 participants from over 32 different countries around the world attended. Furthermore, four official publications were dedicated at the congress: two special issues of ‘Advances in Mental Health & Intellectual Disability’, one special issue of the ‘Journal of Intellectual Disability Research’, the official scientific journal of the EAMHID.

The Section was active with many members participating in varied activities. Dr. Dinesh Bhugra, President of WPA delivered the first Annual Oration of the Department of Psychiatry, JSS Mysore on 23rd September 2015. He spoke on “Psychiatry in the 21st Century”. The annual Conference of Indian Psychiatric Society 2016 at Bhopal in January will have a special session on Endocrines and Sexuality. A Newsletter on the Section is also being planned.

Considering the action plan for 2014-2017 that the WPA Section on Religion, Spirituality and Psychiatry (WPA-SRSP) adopted towards the end of 2014, much progress has been made in the past year to achieve the set outcomes. These include, e.g., that: a WPA position statement on Religion and Spirituality has been developed, submitted to WPA Executive Committee and formally adopted; the Section’s website informing about news, events and resources (papers, books, videos, groups, research tools) has been changed and updated (www.religion-andpsychiatry.org); and the first of three listed conferences/meetings - the 1st Global Meeting in Spirituality and Mental Health, was held in Florianópolis, Brazil from 4-7 November 2015.

The next meeting of the Section is planned to be during the WPA International Congress in Cape Town, South Africa from 18-22 November 2016. The international profile of the WPA-SRSP has also been strengthened by collaboration with religion and spirituality interest groups/sections of national psychiatric associations in the UK, Netherlands, Brazil, South Africa, and the USA.

■ WPA ZONE 7 (NORTHERN EUROPE)

The Danish Psychiatric Association and the Joint Committee of the Nordic Psychiatric Associations hosted the 31st Nordic Congress of Psychiatry in Tivoli Congress Center from 20-23 September 2015. The Congress was a great success with 900 delegates representing 26 different countries. The majority of delegates were Danish, but all Nordic and Baltic countries had smaller or larger groups of psychiatrists attending. Both psychiatry and child/adolescent psychiatry were represented during the Congress. The scientific program ranged from high quality state-of-the-art lectures to an abundance of symposia and posters representing new Nordic research but also other European and American perspectives on clinical best practice. Furthermore, the scientific committee ran a speakers contest for young scientists, and the three best posters were awarded. Throughout all days, the Congress venue was also a forum for lively discussions and social networking among the delegates.

Now the task has been given to the Icelandic Psychiatric Association to arrange the 32nd Nordic Congress of Psychiatry I Reykjavik, Iceland from 13-16 June 2018.

■ ZONE 1 (CANADA)

Approximately 1000 psychiatrists gathered in Vancouver in October 2015 for the Canadian Psychiatric Association Annual Meeting. A wide range of sessions addressed topics of interest to trainees and practising psychiatrists. The Distinguished Member Lecture by Dr. Elliot Goldner asked “What Will Improve the Mental Health of Canadians?”. Over 300 people attended a plenary session by Kidnap Victim Amanda Lindhout who spoke about “Freedom in Forgiveness”. A family physician who provides palliative care (Denise Marshall), a critical care and palliative care internist (James Downar), and a psychiatrist who co-chairs the Professional Advisory Committee of Dying with Dignity (Derryck Smith) discussed issues pertaining to the 2015 Supreme Court of Canada ruling that physician-assisted death is the right of every mentally competent Canadian who is enduring intolerable suffering. As legal, regulatory and health professional experts try to understand how this will affect practice in 2016, this session was of special interest to psychiatrists who will likely be included in capacity assessment for physician-assisted death. The session included practical considerations, ethical and moral aspects and broad reflections on existential issues such as suffering and attitudes toward death.

■ WPA ZONE 12 (MIDDLE EAST)

The zone is in turmoil. Syrian, Yemeni, and Palestinian psychiatric societies have requested help in facing the demands on mental health. I am trying to organize some educational activities in the zone in the coming year with focus on refugees, displaced persons, and trauma. There is understanding of the situation in the Middle East and full support for the initiative to help member societies in the zone to ameliorate the tremendous demands on the psychiatric services.

The situation in Gaza strip – Palestine is very difficult with one qualified psychiatrist for two million population with urgent needs. The newly elected President and executive committee of the Syrian Arab Association of Psychiatrists are very active.

■ WPA ZONE 15 (CENTRAL AND WESTERN ASIA)

On December 16, 2014 the massacre of children in Army Public School by terrorist left 150 children and teachers dead spreading a shock wave locally, nationally as well as in the region. Keeping in view the sensitivity of such incident Horizon NGO, WPA, WAPR and the Royal College of Psychiatrist South East Division collaborated for measure to activate post trauma skill development in stakeholders to include school teachers, students, medical community, media, and religious leaders. As a first step a 4-day training symposium and workshop was organized by a local NGO Horizon and financially supported by Ibadat Hospital Peshawar, Pakistan.

Eminent Medical Scholar, Vice Chancellor Khyber Medical University Professor M. Hafizullah and Prof. Tariq S Mufti, Principal Rehman Medical College, Peshawar accepted the perceived need to include the trauma management in undergraduate medical curriculum. WPA endorsed this whole activity as accredited CME.

■ WPA ZONE 8 (SOUTHERN EUROPE)

A Zonal Symposium titled “Community Mental Health and Primary Care in Southern Europe” was held in the WPA Congress in Bucharest (26 June 2015).

The Italian reform, resulted in closure of all state hospitals and establishing a comprehensive network of outpatients and residential facilities, was introduced by Dr. Enrico Zanalda, Secretary of the Italian Psychiatric Association. Similar reforms occurred in Israel and Cyprus. In most Southern Europe countries, General Practitioners (GPs) are already expected to diagnose, treat and manage mild to moderate mental illnesses. According to the OECD Report, 71% of patients in Greece, Italy, and Spain and 80% in Portugal seek help for psychological and emotional problems from the GP, much more often than from psychiatrists or psychologists.

There is a need to improve the coordination and integration of mental health and primary care.

The World Psychiatric Association (WPA)

The WPA is an association of national psychiatric societies, presently 138, spanning 118 different countries and representing more than 200,000 psychiatrists.

The WPA organizes the World Congress of Psychiatry, International and Regional Congresses, and Thematic Conferences. With its 72 scientific sections, it promotes collaborative work in specific domains of psychiatry. It has developed ethical guidelines for psychiatric practice, including the Madrid Declaration.

Its website is currently visited from almost all countries across the world and the WPA News is widely disseminated. Various educational programmes and series of books had been produced including an E-Learning long distance programme. World Psychiatry, the WPA official journal, could be freely downloaded from PubMed Central and the WPA website (www.wpanet.org).

What are its Aims?

The core missions of the WPA include the following:

- To encourage the highest possible standards of clinical practice
- To increase knowledge and skills about mental disorders and how they can be prevented and treated
- To promote mental health
- To promote the highest possible ethical standards in psychiatric work
- To disseminate knowledge about evidence-based therapy and values based practice
- To be a voice for the dignity and human rights of the patients and their families, and to uphold the rights of psychiatrists
- To facilitate communication and assistance especially to societies who are isolated or whose members work in impoverished circumstances
